Yah Ribon ʻAlam

Piyyut by R. Israel Najara (1555-1625)
Performance by Yair Dalal transcribed by Lexa Koszegi

STUDENT NOTES: This is draft of an excerpt of the recording starting at 0:41.79 and ending at 1:29.12. I started at this point in order to capture the melody of the basic chorus and the first verse.

Next steps will be to add staves for the oud accompaniment so I can transcribe the introduction, which is played in a slower, 3-beat rhythm and then switches to a faster 4 beat rhythm oud intro before the the first chorus is sung.

Lyrics transcription is my own interpretation of how I heard it sung in Dalal's Judeo-Iraqi pronunciation rather than the more modern pronunciations you'd find in printed sources of the Piyyut.
